Approval of Hancock plan expected this week by Burk

By Dan Barber
Echo Staff Writer

Engineers, for Burk & Associates, Inc., city engineers for Bay St. Louis, involved in preparing that city's portion of a county wide 201 facility plan for water pollution control, said Monday that word was expected this week on Hancock County's proposal.

George Kleinpeter, an associate of the firm, said that the tri-body engineers involved in presenting the proposal for waste control to the federal Environmental Protection Agency for Hancock County, had presented their proposals to the Mississippi Air and Water Pollution Control Commission in Jackson and were now awaiting word of approval.

"The proposal is now in the hands of Ralph Waters (chief water quality division)," Kleinpeter said, "and he is supposed to be taking it to the EPA regional office in Atlanta today. We are hoping for some word by this week," he said.

Burk & Associates have been engaged in preparing the county application since March 7 along with deLaurel Engineers for Hancock County and Lewis & Eaton Engineers for the city of Waveland.

"We've already been told that some funds have been set aside for Bay St. Louis," Kleinpeter said.

"We've been extremely lucky. A lot of times these things really get hung up."

Kleinpeter said he felt the quick action was due to the high priority given Bay St. Louis and Hancock County.

Kleinpeter told council members Monday that it only remained for the city to pass a resolution declaring their full intent to cooperate in the development and implementation of the 201 facilities planning process and authorizing Commissioner Lucien Kidd to act as the city's representative in taking whatever steps were necessary for submission of the project application to the E.P.A. The council voted unanimously to adopt the resolution, which Kleinpeter said was suggested by Waters.

In a cost and services breakdown presented the mayor and each commissioner, engineers for Burk & Associates fixed the total proposed cost for the Bay St. Louis portion of the study at $96,051.06.

Under provisions of an EPA grant, the federal agency would pay 75 percent of the cost of the local study leaving $24,012.76 to be matched by Bay St. Louis.

Of this amount, Kleinpeter said, the State of Mississippi would match 50 percent in the form of a no-interest, 20-year loan leaving the city only $12,006.38 to be paid during the course of the study.

Kleinpeter said a review of the cost proposals for the county and both Bay St. Louis and Waveland by Ralph Waters in Jackson last week had been generally favorable with Waters recommending only slight changes before submitting them to EPA.

Most of the changes mentioned, Kleinpeter said, involved the proposal prepared by DeLaurel Engineers, Inc., for that portion of the county outside of Waveland and Bay St. Louis. Copies of the 23-page report prepared by Burk & Associates for Bay St. Louis are in the hands of the mayor and

USS Arizona Memorial

Floating in the middle of Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, the USS Arizona Memorial is one of the nation's most unusual military gravesites. The 184-foot long Memorial is moored above the sunken Arizona, where more than 1,000 sailors and marines died and were trapped within the sunken hull in the Dec. 7, 1941 attack on Pearl Harbor.

Nation honors war dead in Memorial services

Early on the morning of May 27, at 103 National Cemeteries across America, dignitaries and visitors will gather to memorialize those who have given their lives in the nation's wars. One of the most dramatic and moving of these observances will occur at the nation's most unusual military gravesite—the USS Arizona Memorial at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii.

Resting on the bottom of Pearl Harbor in 38 feet of water is the hulk of the battleship USS Arizona, sunk in the surprise attack on December 7, 1941. Arizona struck by five large, armor-piercing bombs, died at its moorings beside Ford Island, along with 1,104 sailors and 73 marines out of its 1,500-man crew. The battleship became the permanent tomb of more than 1,000 of its dead. Trapped pockets of gas made it too hazardous to salvage the hull or remove the bodies.

Arizona's dead, ranging in rank from seaman to admiral and including many races and religions, came from 759 different towns in 49 American states and territories—a true microcosm of the American melting pot. Their names are inscribed in marble in the Memorial.

Dedicated on Memorial Day, 1962, the Memorial was built with a combination of federal and state of Hawaii funds as well as public contributions. It can be reached only by boat and the Navy operates a free public boat service to and from the Memorial. The Memorial has become Hawaii's most popular visitor site. Since 1962 nearly 3.5 million visitors have taken the Navy boat trip out to the Memorial while another 7.5 million have passed it on boat tours of Pearl Harbor.

Spanning the sunken battleship's hull, the Memorial is an enclosed bridge, 184 feet long, which rests on two massive girders supported by pilings. It does not touch any part of the ship's hull, which is clearly visible in the harbor waters beneath.

There is a widespread but erroneous belief that USS Arizona has never been decommissioned as a ship of the U.S. fleet. Stricken from the Navy Register during World War II, the battleship is described by Navy officials at Pearl Harbor as being in "sentimental commission" and ships passing the Memorial customarily render passing honors as they would to an active ship. As a special tribute to all the American fighting men who died in the Pearl Harbor attack, the American flag is flown daily from a flagpole mounted to the ship's mainmast.

Memorial observance planned in Waveland

Lucien Gex, Waveland city attorney, will be principal speaker for Memorial Day services planned by the Bourgeois, Stiefel, Ray Post 77, American Legion, in Waveland Monday.

State American Legion officials as well as U.S. Representative Trent Lott are expected to attend the affair which will begin at 1 p.m. at the new Post Home on Coleman Ave.

Post Commander Terrence Feeney has issued an invitation to all residents of Hancock County along with city and

Teachers in Jackson aim for special session

By Bob Innes
Special to the Echo

Despite a refusal from the Long Beach district school board for the use of a school bus some 40 Long Beach teachers attended a scheduled rally in Jackson last weekend.

A spokesman for the group of teachers said that in its recessed session May 16 the board denied a request by the teachers to travel to Jackson in a school bus. The spokesman explained further that the teachers then took private automobiles to the rally.

With some 800 persons in attendance, including 10 legislators at Woolfolk Hall auditorium in Jackson the teachers met in two sessions.

The morning session featured Gulf Coast state representatives Glen Havens, Gerald Blessey and Glen Endris, who addressed the standing room only crowd and gave their support to the teachers for their efforts to obtain a pay increase. Governor William Waller was not present.

Mississippi Education Association along with the Mississippi Teachers Assn. and American Federation of Teachers had representatives at the meeting who also spoke in support.

After adjournment for lunch the teachers came back at 1:15 p.m. for an organizational session.

In that meeting, the educators agreed to petition the governor to call a special session of the legislature for the specific purpose of asking for a 25 percent salary increase and for more supportive services.

Under the Minimum Foundation Program a certain number of teachers' salaries are paid by the program but any teachers beyond that limit must obtain money from local funding, mainly the school districts.

Teachers are asking for more of these services in order to take the financial crunch off the school districts.

Second order of business saw the organization of a geographically balanced publicity committee. It was divided into five regions with its purpose being to coordinate activities and release publicity requesting the governor to call the special session.

The teachers agreed to organize and solicit their local legislators' support. A spokesman said they would go back to their home towns and request support from their district legislators.

The last order of business featured teachers agreeing to form a coalition of all local professional organizations for the unity of the teachers in hopes of getting everyone together for the special session of the legislature.

Action regarding the special session is being taken by the publicity committee.

Long Beach Chamber backs bond issue

By Bob Innes
Special to the Echo

The board of directors of the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce announced Tuesday that they would endorse the Harrison County Courthouse bond issue.

At the Long Beach Ramada Inn, James McGehee, chamber president announced the decision and noted the "crying need for the facility."

Charles Proffer, architect and courthouse attorney Harry Allen made an indepth presentation on the upcoming proposal to be voted on June 4.

McGehee pointed out the present condition of the courthouse which was constructed more than 70 years ago. He further explained that the board's action "confirms this area's progressive attitude and positive action in upgrading all public facilities in the county."

Mobile man found guilty of kidnapping

A federal jury in Mobile, Ala. Friday found Russell Lamar Davis guilty of the November 1972 kidnapping of a Bay St. Louis teenage girl.

The jury of nine whites and three blacks deliberated for nearly two hours before delivering the guilty verdict against the 20-year-old Mobile youth.

According to witnesses in the courtroom, Davis showed no emotion when the verdict was announced.

U.S. District Court Judge W. Brevard Hand said he will sentence Davis after an investigation into Davis' background is conducted by the Federal Probation office. The judge did not set a date Friday for the sentencing. The maximum penalty for kidnapping is life imprisonment.

On Tuesday, the first day of the trial, the 17-year-old kidnap victim told the court that on Nov. 21, 1972, Davis kidnapped her from her aunt's home in Bay St. Louis and, driving her family's car, forced her to go to Mobile with him. She testified that Davis accosted her as she drove into the driveway of her aunt's home and threatening her with a pair of scissors, forced her into the trunk of the car and drove her to Mobile.

She also testified that on the way to Mobile, Davis took her out of the trunk and raped her. Davis has not been charged with rape in the case as, according to state officials, it has not yet been determined whether the rape allegedly occurred in Mississippi or Alabama.

Charges of kidnapping and grand larceny (auto theft) have been brought against Davis in Mississippi, and an indictment on both counts returned against Davis by a November 1972 grand jury in Bay St. Louis.

There was testimony during the trial that Davis was spotted the night of the kidnapping by a Mobile service station attendant who knew him. The attendant said he called police because the white girl sitting next to Davis in the car appeared scared. Mobile police arrested Davis shortly after the attendant's call.

There was also testimony by a New Orleans hotel employee that Davis robbed him and stole his car earlier on the day of the kidnapping. There was also testimony that Davis was involved in a traffic accident on Highway 90 in Bay St. Louis and left the stolen car shortly before he kidnapped the girl.

Davis' attorney told the jury at the start of the trial that Davis was pleading not guilty to the charge of kidnapping and encompassed in the plea was "innocent by reason of insanity."

U.S. Attorney Charles S. White, Spinner called to the stand a number of psychiatrists and psychologists who testified that Davis had been mentally retarded. However, White's psychologist said Davis was not retarded. White said he had no opinion. Davis' attorney said from mental illness and/or is retarded.

The case was tried in Mobile last March but was declared a mistrial by Judge Hand after the jury was deadlocked by a jurymen who, the foreman told the judge, had a preconceived opinion of the case and refused to consider the facts or discuss the matter.

Fair Assn. gets OK for exhibit building

Hancock County supervisors gave their approval Monday for the reallocation of funds to finance a $75,000 exhibit building at the County Fairgrounds.

Representatives of the Hancock County Fair and Livestock Association asked the board for authorization to raise the needed money through bonds under a local and private bill granted at the last session of the state legislature. Association official Paul McCormick told the board that the estimated overall cost would provide a 100 by 150 sq. ft. metal building at the 22 acre fairgrounds and would include electrical work, a water well and sanitary facilities.

In past years the adjacent National Guard Armory has been used as an exhibit building, McCormick said, but the association is trying for year-round use of the fairgrounds by the community through the construction of the permanent building.

McCormick said the association committee was asking the board to change the present, one quarter mill allocation revenue to a bond issue status to provide longer term security on the building loan.

The board agreed to draw a resolution effecting the change for consideration at a future meeting.

Building committee members accompanying McCormick were Walter Turcotte, Paul Milam and Sonny Bailey.

In an unrelated matter, the board reached an impasse on a request from Port and Harbor director Wilson Webre for reassignment of the lease for the operation of the Bayou Caddy dock facility.

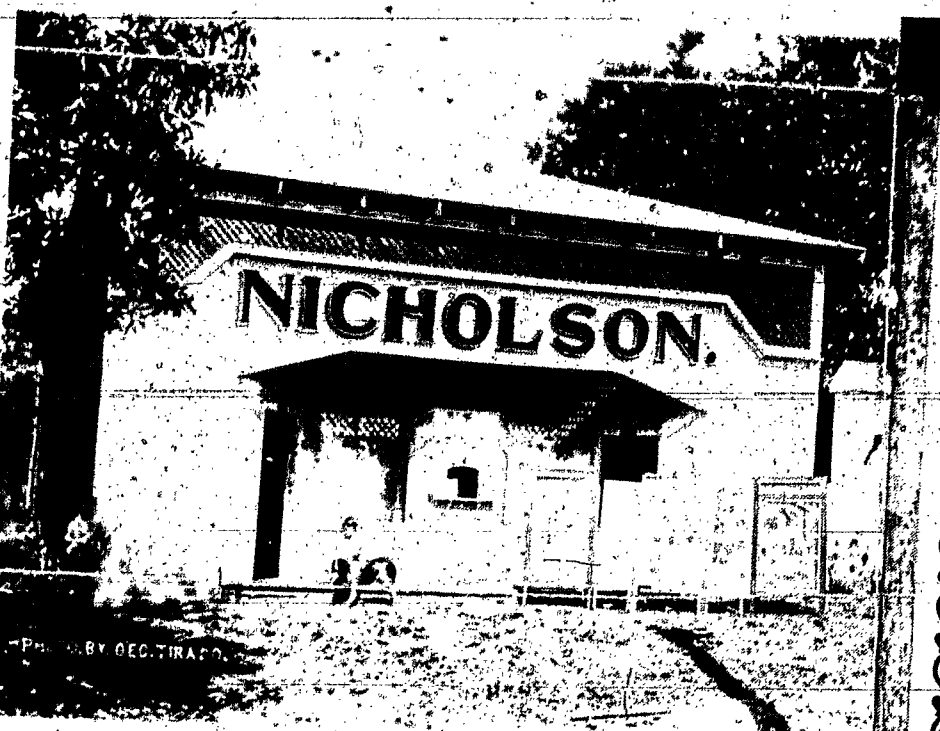

The present operator, Irving Lacoste is in "financial straits," Webre said.

Community says 'thank you' to FHA supervisors

Farmers Home Administration supervisors in Hancock County were honored by the community at a May 14 banquet in what was described as a precedent-setting event in the annals of FHA history.

J.F. Barbour, FHA state director, in addressing the large gathering at Seaside's Wheel Inn in Bay St. Louis, said, "This appreciation banquet, honoring the FHA by city and county officials and patrons, is to my knowledge the first such affair in FHA history."

"It is very gratifying to us to have people say thank you," Barbour added, "that of the 1,700 FHA offices throughout the nation, he feels the local office is one of the best."

Louis Breau, president of the Hancock County Farm Bureau, enceed the affair which was attended by members of the Hancock county board of supervisors, and Bay and Waveland city officials, as well as a number of farmers and county residents who are participants in FHA programs.

Receiving awards of appreciation were former FHA supervisors Charles Burril, 1951-58; Max H. Stone, 1958-71.

agreement with a food service company.

Two representatives of the State Department of Education School Lunch Services appeared before the board to present their views.

John Walker and Pat Elkins told the board that the feeling of the state department is that the district should continue to operate the cafeterias and employ a competent supervisor to run them. It was their opinion that the board could expect to pay the supervisor in the neighborhood of $8,000 per year.

Next the board heard from representatives of the ARA and Mississippi Valley Food Services, each of whom offered plans for operating the cafeteria on a balanced budget.

The board advised all representatives that a decision would be made pending further consideration of the matter. Either action will become effective next school year.

Superintendent Thomas L. Reeves advised the board of the local Teachers Association's request to use a school bus for travel to Jackson May 18 for a state meeting concerning the request for a special session of the legislature calling for an increase in teachers salaries.

Mrs. Georgia Pepper board member moved that the district deny the request. But died for lack of a second. The board delayed action on the request until its May 16 recess and at that meeting the board again considered the request. After a vote on a motion by trustee Jim Baker and a second by vice president Jim Loftus, the board unanimously denied the request.

Other business at the May 14 session saw Mr. Hayman, senior high school principal propose a class in distributive education, be added to the high school curriculum. Hayman said that the Vocational Division of the State Department of Education would provide 47.50 percent of the teachers salary for 11 months and that the Minimum Program would accommodate one-half of the teachers' salary for nine months leaving the District with an expenditure of approximately $1,720. The program would accommodate 60 students in the fields of marketing and sales and would carry one unit for classroom instruction. An additional unit for the second year when the program becomes involved in cooperative agreements with area businesses.

The school would be required to provide classrooms with furniture and the Vocational Division would come across with approximately $10-$12,000 worth of equipment at no extra charge to the district. After discussion by the board Loftus made the motion, seconded by Baker and the proposal was unanimously accepted.

Assistant Superintendent Vernon Eilers presented a proposal for a full time mechanic for buses and other school vehicles. Under the proposal Bert Daurio of Bert's Garage would receive a salary of $3,500 per year. Baker made a motion with a second by board member Wesley Watts and the board agreed to accept the plan.

Bids sought for Bay streets

The Bay St. Louis city council agreed in recess meeting Tuesday morning to proceed with advertisements for surfacing of 13 city streets upon the recommendation of engineers Broadway and Seal, Picayune.

Principal streets involved include Seventh and Eighth Streets, Webster Street, Ruella Ave., School Road, Commagere Boulevard, Genin Street, Union Street A and B, Carroll Ave., Dunbar Ave., Keller Ave., Keller Street, Booker St., and Agnes Street. The proposal also includes surfacing of an area at the city Police and Fire station.

New head named for Senior program

By Bob Innes
Special to the Echo

Long Beach will have a new commissioner in charge of the City's senior citizens program.

The Mayor and board of aldermen announced Tuesday night the appointment of alderman J. E. Moran to that position.

The appointment came after a motion which was unanimously approved by the board.

Moran will replace alderman Bob Richards, who is stepping down as a result of more time-consuming matters in the City's recreation program. Richards said however, that his leaving was not of a voluntary nature. "I enjoyed very much working with the senior citizens and only hope Moran will fill the bill."

Other business featured the board's agreement to purchase two police patrol cars under state contract from Blackwell Chevrolet in Jackson at a cost of $3,480.60 for each automobile.

However, final action is pending quotes from local dealers.

Alderman Richards made a motion with a second by Sal Guiffria to informally contact local dealers to see if they couldn't obtain a lower price on the cars. Board Attorney Harold DeMetz said this could be done providing that any of the local dealers quoted is under state contract.

Alderman Sam Maxwell noted that Blackwell is the only dealer contacted that offers the police automobile package. After brief discussion the board voted unanimously to accept Richards motion.

A motion for the purchase of two twin-tone visabar lights and siren on state contract from Roper Supply Co. of Picayune was approved.

Budoy Broadway, chief engineer for the project, said that plans were drawn so that the city could issue a work order on each individual street though contractors could bid on the entire project.

Broadway said this would allow the council to take the streets of highest priority first since "you know how much money you have."

"We just hope," he said, "that the people who live on these streets realize that not all of them will be done at this time."

Broadway declined to give reporters cost estimates of the street work saying that past experience has proven that contractors often follow the estimate too closely.

"They tend to meet or exceed these estimates when we give them," he said, "but rarely bid under them. When we get the bids back then we'll let the whole thing out."

In other business Tuesday the council agreed to a recommendation by Mayor Warren Carver that the city contact an independent firm to do a study of the house numbering system within the city.

In a moment of unanimous agreement, the mayor and two commissioners jokingly agreed that the city's street numbering was "in a mess."

Councilman Clarence Ladner said the situation had become a major problem due to a lack of supervision over the years.

Carver added that there were several streets in the city where there are more than one house with the same number on the same side of the street.

The council also authorized the mayor to hire two additional men to do drainage work and street maintenance from revenue sharing funds after the mayor said that he could not keep up with the work with the four men he presently has.

In its regular business meeting Monday the council took under advisement a request from Police Chief Billy Carbonette that the city purchase 12-15 hand held radio units for police, fire, and city government use.

Carbonette said that the units, which cost $430 each, were needed because police presently did not have sufficient manpower to serve all areas of the city. Carbonette said that the units provided instant communication to any officer or fireman with any other police officer or to city government heads and were sometimes the only communication available in cases of natural disasters.

After demonstrating a simulated alert situation with one of the units, Carbonette said that the city did not have to purchase all of the units at one time.

He proposed that the city consider purchasing two to three units initially. The radios, he said, had a range of 10-15 miles and were not as easily monitored as the automobile units that the department presently depends on.

Mounger to leave Bay for Natchez pastorate

The Rev. Dwyne M. Mounger will conduct his last service as minister of the First Presbyterian Church in Bay St. Louis next Sunday.

On Wednesday he will leave for Natchez where he has accepted a call to serve as interim minister of the First Presbyterian Church there. His tenure in Natchez will be on a temporary basis until a permanent minister can be found for that pastorate. The Mungers plan to return to the Bay area on his retirement.

Rev. Mounger came to Bay St. Louis August 1, 1968 from Jackson where he was the Executive Secretary of the Presbytery of Central the Committee of Concern, an ecumenical group of clergy and civic leaders who raised many thousand dollars to rebuild Negro churches destroyed by racist factions during the period of racial strife in the early 60's.

In 1946 he was sent to Carthage, Miss. where he organized and built the Presbyterian Church there. During his five year stay in Carthage, he founded and promoted the unique Tri-Racial Good Will Festival for Choctaw Indians, whites and blacks, and was on the board of trustees for French Camp Academy. He has also served on the board of trustees for Columbia Theological Seminary and was secretary of the board from 1960-61.

The son of a minister, Rev. Mounger is a native of Collins, Miss. He was graduated from Millsaps College with a B.A. degree in 1928 and received a Bachelor of Divinity degree from Columbia Theological Seminary. He completed graduate work under a fellowship at the University of Edinburgh and returned to Columbia for a Masters degree in 1971.

One of the more significant periods of his close to six year pastorate in Bay St. Louis was what he describes as "a wide ministry to victims of hurricane Camille". Through the long night hours of August 17, his home, the church manse, was a place of shelter and refuge for more than a dozen persons. The big two story home, built next to the church on Carroll Ave., withstood the storm, although a tremendous oak tree next to the house fell into the roof. A number of parishioners and Bay residents, made homeless by Camille, remained at the manse for months after until quarters could be found.

Rev. Mounger has three children, two sons and a daughter. The latter, now Mrs. William Hays, lives in Jackson with her family. The eldest son, Dwyne, Junior, is completing studies on a Doctorate in Divinity at the Union Theological Seminary in New York City and Malcolm Christian is a junior at Memphis Art Academy. Last Sunday, during a luncheon on the church lawn, Rev. and Mrs. Mounger were presented a silver tray from church members—inscribed simply, "With love and gratitude from First Presbyterian Church members."

Daily sessions will be from 8:30 until 11:30 a.m. for children age 3 through grade 6. A special edition of V.B.S. will be held each night from 7 through 9 p.m. for young people, grades 7 through 12. The week will be climaxed Friday at 11:30 a.m. with a picnic and picture day.

The impact of Vacation Bible School with it's Bible teaching, mission emphasis, music, handwork and overall character building experiences cannot be over-emphasized in the lives of young developing minds", states the pastor, Rev. Nathan L. Barber.

First Baptist Church has for many years offered one of the strongest and most effective Vacation Bible Schools in our area. Children from all denominations have always been extended a very warm reception. The church welcomes as many interested children as possible to share in this learning and fun experience. Trained workers will be in their places to lead the children in every part of the day's activities. Parents are requested to have their children at the church promptly at 8:30 and to pick them up at 11:30.

VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL SPECIAL EDITION

A special edition of Vacation Bible School is planned for a very important group in the community. Each night from 7 until 9 p.m. during Vacation Bible School week, young people grades 7 through 12 will have an opportunity to share in a new and interesting Vacation Bible School format designed especially for them.

Using Bible Study as a focal point, the new format will include variations such as guest personalities who will be exposing both the good and the bad concerning their vocational choices, rap sessions involving contemporary issues facing young people, and a fellowship snack time.

An added feature will be the exploration of talents and interests. Instructors and their activities will include Mrs. Ethel Mae Fillingame teaching the art of drying and arranging flowers under glass, Lou Boudreaux instructing recording and sound equipment using cassette and reel to reel tapes, Mrs. Joan de Saknoffsky in art instruction, and Jim Fillingame and Leslie Moore in the ancient Turkish art of Macrame.

Annunciation School

Refreshments will be served each morning. A registration fee of $5 for the first child in each family, and $3 for each other child in the same family. This money will be used to help cover part of the cost for refreshments, bus, textbooks and related materials for the classes.

Principal of the Bible School will be Sister Mary of the Holy Family; other faculty members will include Brother Stan, Sisters Francis, Katherine, John Christopher, Mrs. Lynell Ladner, Misses Bobbi Malley, Erica Ladner, Neyssa Ladner, Donna Bilbo and Darlene Cuevas. Teacher's aides will be members of the Parish CYO.

This means those who have completed the first grade, and those who just completed the eighth grade. Classes will be from 8:45 to 11:45 a.m. Monday through Friday.

Parents are asked to provide transportation to the school or to bus pick-up point. Children are to be picked up at the same place after school.

There will be two buses collecting the children. The first pick-up point on the Rocky Hill Road will be at Wesley Ladner's at 8 a.m., then to Arnold Ladner's, Bernice's Store, Elmer Ladner's, proceed to Teddy Wayne Necaise's. The bus will then take the dirt road to Laverne Necaise's, and Maire Summer's, return to Highway 603, and go down the Road to Kiln Acres and Annunciation School.

the saga of a sad alligator

It started about noon Tuesday when a group of soggy citizens stood on the seawall watching me battle the surf on the Bay St. Louis beach.

OR

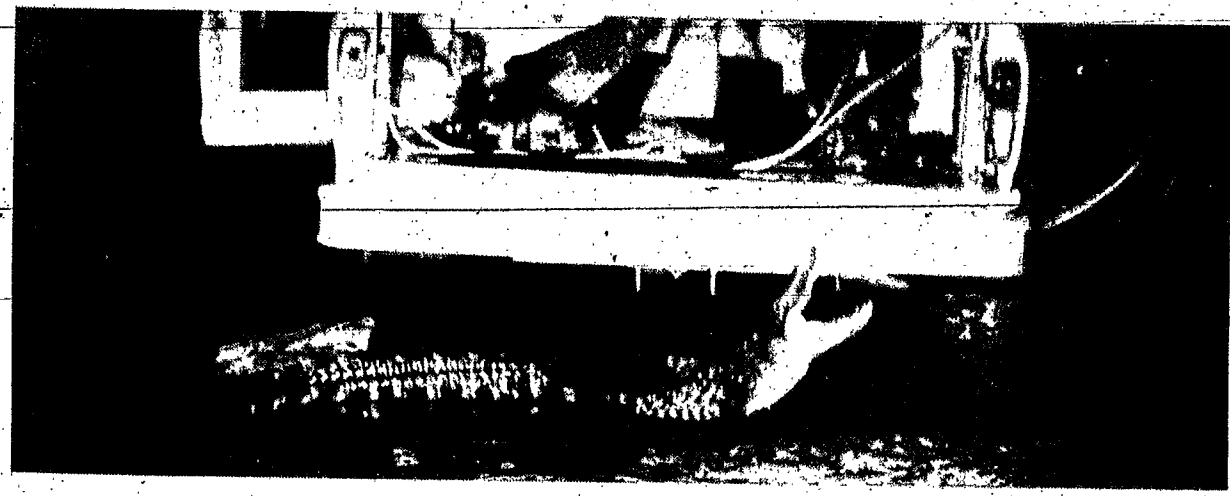

This was worse than the bashing around in the rough seas, except I know they were trying to help. Ed Turnipseed and Rick Kergosien rescued me after about 8 hours and brought me to their house. All those staring kids - you'd think they never saw an alligator before.

which way to the swamp?

I was SO glad to see Lee Ferrell and I would have told him so (we've met before) but he kept holding my mouth shut. He is a really nice fellow who knows a lot about alligators and can be depended on to give a guy a gentle pat and a ride back to the swamp .... I don't know about that guy at the other end of my tail.

Bye.... and thanks for the ride.
 (Whew - what an ordeal!)

Extra staff in Bay will handle fishermen's unemployment claims

After some initial snags in procedure for filing claims for unemployment security, things are shaping up for Coast fishermen laboring under a disaster status.

Amendments to the President's May 8 disaster declaration established May 1, 1973 as the retroactive date for assistance, and directives and procedures were sent to federal assistance offices on the Coast.

Under terms of the declaration, commercial fishermen who had suffered severe income losses or deprivation were eligible to apply for unemployment compensation, food stamps and Small Business Administration low interest loans.

However, Hancock County fishermen applying last week for unemployment compensation at the Gulfport office were referred back to the Bay St. Louis office. Some dissension developed when a dozen men were told by the Bay representative Wednesday that a heavy pre-scheduled work load of other applicants prevented handling any fishermen's claims. The Bay office is only open one half day a week.

In a telephone interview Wednesday, Ellis L. White, director of the Gulfport employment security claims office, told the Echo, "When we have an emergency situation like this, we usually don't have the extra trained staff to handle the sudden influx of applicants."

White admitted that when he referred the Hancock contingent back to the Bay office he did not expect the number to grow as it did. Only one representative in the Bay is not able to handle the extra amount of claims within the allotted time in that office, he said.

After some fast telephoning to regional offices, by mid-afternoon Wednesday White had arranged for two representatives in the Bay office Friday to handle only fishermen's claims.

The office, in the Agriculture Building on Nacaise Ave., will be open Friday from 8:45 a.m. to noon and 1 to 4 p.m.

The speed with which an application is processed depends on the amount of information the claimant brings on his first visit, White further advised.

Applicants should have some information to show their status as commercial fishermen or to prove that they made their livelihood as fishermen and became unemployed as a result of the disaster. Boat registration papers, boat licenses or income tax returns will suffice, he advised, or in the case of a crewman the name and address of the boat owner for whom he works.

The amount of claim will be determined by his 1972 earnings for the year (including total earnings from any source other than fishing). A W-2 form or income tax return can prove earnings while crew members can show a share allowance.

White stressed that this program is an extension of other flood disaster programs that have already been set up in other parts of the state.

REMEMBERING...

As we approach 1974's Memorial Day, we need to pause and remember the hundreds of thousands of Americans who have fought and died over the years in defense of world freedom.

Their contributions, their sacrifices, can never be forgotten.

I recall the prayer offered by the Senate Chaplain in recognition of Memorial Day, 1973. His prayer, in behalf of Congress, went like this: "O Thou who art from everlasting to everlasting, before whom the generations rise and pass away, prepare us in heart and in mind and soul for the days of sacred memory we are about to observe. Hallow the memory of those who in every age and in every conflict have served in the Armed Forces efficiently and faithfully without blemish or stain.

"Deliver us, we beseech Thee, from callous indifference to the cost in suffering and sorrow to so many of our fellow citizens. Sanctify for the ultimate good of mankind the self-giving of those who laid down their lives or now bear in their bodies the permanent scars of battle.

"May the first memorial in this new age of a tenuous peace be to us a new dedication to justice and abiding peace. Teach us the lesson we ought to learn. Uphold the youth who continue to serve in the Armed Forces."

In closing, the Chaplain offered this one last thought:

"Hasten the day when swords are forged into plowshares and men learn war no more."

To that I add a hearty "Amen!" After all, war is hardly a joyful venture for any man -- or any nation.

But what more can we add to that prayer as we approach Memorial Day, 1974?

Nothing, of course, can ever tarnish the deep respect and appreciation we feel for those who fought and died. Nothing can erase the memory of those who served their country in time of need.

We can, however, demand a full accounting of those still listed as Missing in Action from the Vietnam conflict. There are more than 1,300 American servicemen still carrying that MIA label.

And they deserve more than passing interest.

Personally, I find it very disturbing that the Department of Defense has begun to arbitrarily reclassify MIA's with Presumptive Finding of Death status. This is being done despite the fact that there has been no new information on the fate of the vast majority of our MIA's which could justify this change in status.

A House Resolution introduced on May 7 expresses the hope that the Secretary of Defense "shall issue no further reclassifications from Missing in Action to Presumptive Finding of Death status until North Vietnam complies with the terms of the Paris Peace Agreement and until a determination has been made that all possible means of ascertaining the fate of these men have been taken."

As one of my colleagues pointed out on the floor of the House, this is the least we can do for the MIA families who continue to suffer.

Beyond that, we can "Remember." That's the least each of us can do this Memorial Day as we honor those who have fought and died for the freedom we now enjoy.

Our Readers Write

Dear Editor,

I am sure you have heard of the recent decision that the enameled plant on Central Avenue, which is presently owned by Eljer Plumbingware Division, will close its doors by an estimated date of May 31, 1974.

Prior to this decision, many people had been dismissed from their jobs at the plant. This type of lay-off was fairly usual at that particular time of the year. But now, all employee personnel will also be terminated by the above estimated date. I am not writing to you to put down Eljer Plumbingware, nor am I writing a sob story. I am merely writing to you to try to help you and the people of Hancock County to understand the seriousness of this situation.

Eljer Plumbingware is trying very hard to sell their ownership in this plant as a going business, but time is running short and luck hasn't ventured in their direction, yet. If they could sell the plant in time, it is quite possible that many people will remain at their present job positions. But Eljer could use some help, especially from our city officials and possibly our county supervisors. I am sure their answer will be somewhere near "we're trying," but how far have they gone and to whom have they talked? Do you and the rest of the county realize that this plant shutdown will bring a loss of approximately $60,000 per month from this plant's payroll in Hancock County. That adds up to $720,000 annually subtracted from this county's income.

The employees of this plant will eventually find work elsewhere, more than likely out of town and even out of state. The majority of these employees, also, are long-time and even life-time residents of Hancock County. Do you feel it is fair that they should have to venture elsewhere to continue their skills and trades? No, it isn't, and we need a stronger and more unified effort from our city and county officials, and if needed, our state officials.

We're losing something in this county that has been neglected to be replaced. This plant is the only major type of industry in this city, and without it and others like it, we're all going to suffer from the affects of such a loss.

Something needs to be done, and for once in our county's history, let us see some effort and action and not just a few lines of meaningless words.

Very truly yours,
Henry J. Prevou, Jr.
Bay St. Louis, Ms. 39520

not have to account to any one as to how he spends the monies he receives. Then Mr. Ladner proceeded, in a very loud voice and several times using profane language, to tell the resident and the Board of Supervisors, in the presence of the press, sheriff, and everyone else in the room that those people out there are outsiders. They are not native Hancock County people, and he, Mr. Ladner was not going to do anything for those outsiders.

Mr. Ladner said, "They came in here, bought property, built houses and now they don't like the way we run the county and I don't have a chain around their necks, so why don't they leave."

This would be fine for him, but, he likes these so called outsiders' property taxes. His percentage of the license plate taxes, his percentage of the sales taxes and his percentage of the federal revenue sharing monies. All these taxes, he receives off the outsiders, but he doesn't like it when the people ask why they don't have roads to travel on, or why beat one doesn't have any funds left. Wake up people, before it's too late. This is in violation of your civil rights. This is discrimination, not by Sex, color, age or creed; but, by where you were born. How much more insults, harassment, and intimidation are the people going to take? Stand up and be counted. Hurricane Camille devastated the coast in 1969, but the devastation being done to Hancock County by Mr. Ladner is more disastrous. He has either voted no or abstained his vote on anything that was for the betterment of this county. Just a few: New classrooms, sewage treatment at North Central, a new high school at Gulfview, etc. Your reply and opinions welcome.

Dear Editor:

Citizens of Hancock County we promised that we would look into the NFIA program, and we have.

The board of supervisors told us that if we did not have a county code we would lose our flood insurance. Well they changed the building code to a county ordinance. The board passed this ordinance so the public would not lose their flood insurance.

This ordinance was passed and approved by the board in March and the public still does not know what it is all about. I know that there will be a public meet May 28 on this matter. What I can't understand is why they did not publish it in the paper where every one can read it thoroughly and study the matter to its fullest.

I'm sure that the local newspapers would be glad to print this "ad" news. Citizens of Hancock County the only one that can make us lose our flood insurance is our board of supervisors for not doing what the NFIA program calls for. Until this day nothing has been done about meeting these requirements. What are you going to do about this Mr. Supervisors?

Citizens are we going to stand for this come election day? We need people in office who will tell us the truth and to do the job that is called for.

I think the reporters of the local papers should give us more information on any activity that the board of supervisors, planning commission, port and harbor commission any other commission that is on the payroll paid for by the taxpayer of Mississippi. The citizens of this county have a right to know what is going on in our local government and they will exercise their rights come election day.

Dear Editor:

A baby learns to walk by taking one step at a time but never without falling occasionally. Therefore progress is made, by not repeating mistakes. How are repeated mistakes prevented? First by analyzing the mistake and finding how it was made. Then you make a rule or regulation and if this rule or regulation is obeyed the same mistake will not be repeated.

This brings us again to the building code with the related zoning and subdivision regulations. Why have a building code, zoning regulation or subdivision regulation? Have mistakes been made in these areas in the past?

What exactly will a building code do for you? It is true that it will require you to purchase a permit and have a building inspection. But it will also set a minimum acceptable standard that you or your builder will have to build to. If you build a nice home would you want a weekend fishing shack with a rusty tin roof next door? Wouldn't it be nice to know that your next door neighbor has to at least match your house. A building code with the related subdivision regulation and zoning regulation not only prevents repeated mistakes but protects your investment in the future. The first step after a mistake is made is to prevent it from happening again, then you set out to correct the results of the first mistake. This is progress.

Dear Sir:

Shame on those politicians and others who are opposing the meager grant of freedom from taxes on the homes of poor Senior Citizens, over 65. Maybe they will feel different when they reach the twilight of their lives especially if life has in the interim given them a rough deal.

Everyone is not lucky enough to have the finances, power and luxurious living of politicians, professional and business people. Those in the lower income bracket on small pensions, Social Security etc., lacking attractive new cars to transport them to Bay St. Louis to pay that school tax, know the sharp pinch and rugged conditions pertaining to such a trip every year.

Certainly those in power can find the money to replace these taxes. In fact I believe they already know where the money is; I could give some suggestions, of course, they would not approve; they never do.

I've been told those who oppose this relief from home taxes were not in favor of the rich property owner, enjoying this tax freedom. Well then, I've been misinformed, because I believe in justice and fairness; only those on low fixed income should be the beneficiary.

The more one has of this world's goods the more oppressive and callous they become.

Let us not begrudge the very elderly who are becoming ill and infirm the only relief from one of life's hardships, before the final termination of their lives.

Sincerely Eleanor E. McFie
Waveland, Miss.
39576.

County Agent's Notes

John W. Smith, County Agent

SMALL GRAIN SEED
If you are interested in saving some oats, wheat or rye for planting seed, there are some things you need to do now.

Storage areas should be cleaned and treated to control any stored grain insects that may be present. Weevils will severely damage wheat. They will destroy its value for planting. Stored grain should also be periodically aerated and inspected.

Check the grain in the field before harvest. Weeds like wild onions are difficult to remove in cleaning and should be avoided at harvest. If weeds are a problem in certain areas of fields, skip these areas when saving grain for seed.

Diseases such as rust and septoria can severely reduce yields. If your grain field has a disease this spring, it may well have the same disease next spring. Fields where disease is a problem should not be harvested for seed.

MANAGE SPRING PASTURES
Keep cattle concentrated on pastures that were overseeded with ryegrass until the ryegrass fades out. Keep cattle off pastures not needed to build a grass weeds. On the sandy soils, Amiben is the safest broad spectrum herbicide.

reserve for grazing after the ryegrass is gone, or to save for hay. Surplus ryegrass can be cut for hay. Cut in the dough stage or earlier, it makes an excellent quality hay.

Manage clovers. Allow crimson clover to produce seed. Then harvest for hay or clip. Arrowleaf clover can be grazed, heavily during May then grazing pressure should be reduced to allow seed production. La. S-1 white clover is a profuse seed producer and can be grazed as needed in a rational program.

LIME
You can apply lime to soybean land right up to planting time and still reap some benefits this year. Soft lime is more readily available than hardrock lime, but use any high grade liming material you can get.

SOYBEANS
For good, high producing stands of soybeans, plant the right amount of seed. A good average is around 10 seed per foot of row in 38- to 40 inch rows. This should result in seven or eight plants per foot for the final stand. Normally it requires 40 to 50 pounds of seed per acre for this seeding rate.

If all seedbeds were ideal, soybeans would emerge from several inches deep. But seedbeds are seldom ideal, so limit the planting depth to an inch and a half on sandy soil and two inches on heavier soils. Planting too deeply extends the length of time for emergence, letting weeds get the jump on the soybeans. Since deep planting also places considerable stress on seedlings to emerge, weak seed often do not make it. This is especially true when the incorporated herbicides Treflan, Cobex or Planavin were used.

Lots of growers will find it necessary to apply a herbicide at planting or soon after to control as many weeds as possible. Since herbicides are scarce a band application can be used to treat two or three times as many acres as broadcast application. When banding herbicides be sure to reduce rates accordingly.

Of the surface applied herbicides, Lasso is the most effective on seedling grasses as well as pigweed. For cocklebur, teaweed and sesbania, Sencor or Lexone (heavy soils only) is the most effective. Dinoseb plus naptalam combinations and Lorox are the next best alternatives. For morning glory problems the best choices seem to be Lorox and the dinoseb plus naptalam mixture.

On finely textured silt loam soils and coarser textured sandy loams there is risk of injury to soybeans when using Sencor or Lexone. On silt loam soils, the dinoseb plus naptalam mixtures or Lorox are the best choices for broadleaf

AILA director

Morgan Evans, left, president of the American Institute of Landscape Architects, congratulates Jack Mize of Gulfport upon his appointment as a director in the international organization. The appointment came at a recent AILA convention in California. Evans is the landscape developer for Disneyland and Walt Disney World.

Mize is named AILA international director

Jack L. Mize, AILA, of Mize & Associates, 401 33rd Street, Gulfport, has been appointed a director in the American Institute of Landscape Architects.

The institute is an international organization dedicated to the improvement of the environment and the profession of landscape architecture. It has members in all 50 states and many foreign countries.

As a director, Mize will take an active part in the administration of the organization, including the establishment of management policies, and the planning of international programs and activities.

A member of the institute for only three years, Mize founded the Mississippi Southern Chapter, and currently serves as its president. He has played an active role in the development and growth of the organization in the Southern United States.

Mize spearheaded an intensive 16-month campaign which resulted in successful legislation for the registration of landscape architects in Mississippi this year.

House Bill 468, known as the Landscape Architectural Practice Act, went into effect in April, due largely to the efforts of Mize and fellow landscape architects throughout the state.

Beginning his personal campaign in January 1973, Mize and his staff in Gulfport spent many hours writing letters, circulating petitions, raising money and indoctrinating the public on the importance of the bill.

Introduced in the House during the last legislative session by State Representatives Hannon Miller and Louis Fondren, the bill passed by a vote of 75-24.

In general, the bill regulates the practice of landscape architecture, and provides for the registration of qualified persons as landscape architects.

In addition, it creates a State Board, provides for the appointment of members, fixes their terms in office, and defines their powers and duties.

The bill also sets forth minimum qualifications and requirements for registration, establishes registration fees, and outlines requirements for renewal.

The bill has a Grandfather Clause, which set April 12 as the deadline for acceptance of applications under that classification.

Mize is licensed to practice in 10 states and has designed and constructed many large commercial projects, including the 6,500-acre Diamondhead tract in Hancock County and four other developments throughout the South.

Although every painting done by Waveland artist Joan de Sakhnoffsky is truly a work of art, it's difficult to think of her work as such, for she makes it very clear that with her it's truly a fun thing.

Joan, who now has a collection of oils, pastels and water colors on exhibit at City-County Memorial Library, is so enthusiastic about her profession that any listener is tempted to grab a brush and canvas and have at it!

And this is just exactly what the artist did approximately six years ago.

Joan majored in art at Texas' Baylor College and fashion art and dress design was her main interest for many years. After her marriage to internationally famous industrial designer, Alexis de Sakhnoffsky, she became his full-time business partner. They lived in New York City for several years, then moved to Chicago where Joan found the opportunity to obtain experience in dress design; she later operated a custom dress shop on Peachtree Street in Atlanta.

Following the death of her husband, she moved to Gulfport and designed dresses and gowns to be made in Hong Kong for John Bell Imports.

Seven years ago, she decided she would prefer residing in Bay St. Louis and now makes her home in Waveland.

Looking at her many portraits, seascapes, flower drawings, animals, and well paintings of just about every subject imaginable, one wonders where she finds time to paint, travel, enjoy an active social life, and give 17 art lessons weekly.

In addition to these varied activities, she also gives volunteer lessons to Senior citizens at the Center in Bay St. Louis. The latter pursuit seems to be the one she finds most rewarding. Recently one of her students from this class, Carl Baldenhoffer, was presented an honorable mention award at a recent art show at Edgewater Plaza and Joan was just as proud as one could possibly be! In fact, getting her to discuss her work wasn't too easy, for she is just not the 'blow your own horn' type. But just mention one of her students, and she'll rave on and on about his progress.

As for the future, Joan insists that she just sort of lets things happen, but she does intend to concentrate a bit more on portraits; but on the other hand, she feels she must return to the Gulf beaches of Florida so she'll be able to catch the true colors in that almost unbelievable blue water.

Faculty appointments set for LB schools

In a recessed meeting May 16 Long Beach Separate School District trustees approved faculty recommendations for the coming year.

Accepted as teachers were Richard B. Smith, junior high band director; Joseph Fernald, junior high math teacher; Marcia Randall, high school English teacher; Kathryn Bentz, teacher Jeff Davis Elementary; and Melissa Ladner, teacher Green Acres Elementary.

Resignations were accepted from Linda S. Randolph, Sandra McKiernon, Lynda Fairly, Anne Semmes and Tom McKiernon.

In other business, Supt. T. L. Reeves advised the board that architects had requested two change orders for additions to Quarles and Green Acres schools. The first change order included substituting a folding partition for that which was specified for a deduction of $50.32 and substitute door grills for wire glass as specified for an addition of $30 bringing the total deductive alternates to $117.82.

The second order asked for an extension of 57 days due to the delay in receiving bulb trees, through no fault of the contractor. The board unanimously approved the change orders.

In other matters the board: — approved a recommendation to advertise for bids for a bush hog to be used by the district.

— approved salaries for the superintendent and his assistant at $19,000 for the superintendent and $17,000 for the assistant.

The board adjourned until the next regular session June 11.

and has agreed to a sublease arrangement with Marshal Strong, Lakeshore commercial fisherman. Lacoste, who has a two-year lease with an option, has encountered difficulties at the Bayou Caddy site with rising prices and fuel shortages, among other problems, Webre explained. Some $18,000 worth of equipment is also involved, he added, a portion of which belongs to Lacoste and some of which belongs to the county and fuel suppliers.

Beat one supervisor Jerry Ladner objected to the suggested arrangement saying that he felt the operation should be put out for bid, giving other qualified persons the opportunity to be considered.

However, in answer to supervisor H. "Bully" Zengarl's question of alternatives, Webre said the assignment between Lacoste and Strong had been negotiated May 14. No further action was taken.

Turning to another matter, Webre said the Port and Harbor commission at a Thursday meeting rescinded a resolution recommending acceptance of a land option proposal by Jackson Landing Shipyard, Inc. and offered the firm a counter proposal involving a lease on Lots 5-B, 1 and 4 at the industrial park.

The commission is now awaiting a decision from the company directors on the counter proposal, Webre said.

The board opened bids for construction of a public pier at the foot of Ulman Ave. in Bay St. Louis and for draperies and furnishings for the county court house, now under a renovation program.

A motion was passed to reject the only bid for the pier received from Terry Feeney. Feeney's base bid price of $108,000 was too far over the cost estimate of $55,000 submitted by architect Fred Wagner, the board agreed.

Of three bids received for court house furniture and draperies, Office Supply Co. of Gulfport was the apparent low bidder with prices of $12,724 for furniture and $1,900 for draperies. An $800 deduction was offered on the furniture cost if selection was made prior to May 27.

Other bidders were Louisiana Interiors, Inc. of New Orleans, with $1,388 for draperies and $14,360 for furniture; and Desportes Office Supply of Biloxi, with a bid of $13,850 for furniture and no bid on draperies.

County tax assessor-collector George Heitzmann asked the board's approval to include a computer service in his department's budget for the coming year.

A lack of office working space prevents hiring extra clerks, he said, but insufficient staff is causing delays in putting out the tax roles. The board approved his request for the computer service.

In other business, the board agreed to a contract for federal support of a newly opened Day Care facility at the Senior Citizens Center in Bay St. Louis. Center director Mrs. Eve McDonald said official opening ceremonies are slated for Thursday at 10 a.m.

The board adjourned until June 3, 9 a.m.

and commissioners and may be inspected by the public, Mayor Carver said.

The firm also proposes a series of public hearings to describe the scope and objectives of the facilities plan and to enlist public participation in its development. Written notices, it said, would be submitted in advance to the appropriate city officials of Bay St. Louis so proper notice could be given to the public and interested groups.

The city of Waveland and their consulting engineers, Lewis-Eaton Partnership, were named lead applicants for the 201 facility plan by county supervisors last March after learning only one application could be filed for federal funding in areas of more than one subdivision.

Waveland was suggested as the logical choice for lead applicant by Waters after a series of citizen group meetings last February.

Waters noted Waveland was already well underway with a multi-million dollar sewage collection and treatment facility that met EPA standards and had compiled much of the needed research for a county wide application.

Decker to head Waveland Legion

Donald C. Decker, Past Commander of Bourgeois-Stieffel-Ray Post 77 of The American Legion in Waveland, was elected to the position of Commander of the 9th District of the American Legion at the conference held in Gulfport Sunday.

The three day affair was staged at Joe Graham Post 118. Commander Decker was elected by unanimous vote.

Decker was nominated by Terrence Feeney, Post 77 Commander, who praised Decker's performance as a Legionnaire and his dedication to legion affairs. The new Commander assumes duties July 1.

What Would You Like To Know

About Your City?

Members of the Bay St. Louis City Council have expressed a desire for local citizens to become better informed of the affairs of their community and the workings of their city government.

Questions concerning the tax structure or assessments, city operating costs, areas of income and disbursement of funds and any other of a reasonable nature will be answered by council members in the Echo.

QUESTION: I recall reading in the last published budget that the City of Bay St. Louis pays a rental of $200 yearly to the Utilities Department for each fire hydrant in the City. Why?

ANSWER: In 1964, the City of Bay St. Louis entered into a Public Facility Loan Program with the United States government for financing and construction of a water and sewer project amounting to $3,000,000.

One of the conditions of the loan agreement was a provision that a minimal annual sum of $30,000 or $200 for each of 150 fire hydrants, would be paid from the City's general operating fund into the Utilities Fund as part of a guarantee that the loan to the City of Bay St. Louis would be repaid the Federal government.

The cost to the city's general operating fund at the present time amounts to $40,000 or 200 hydrants at $200 annually. This amount added to the revenue from the sale of gas, water, and sewer goes to pay the operating costs of the utility system, along with the annual retirement of bonds and interest costs.

As additional fire hydrants are added to city water mains, the city's general operating fund pays an additional $200 yearly to the Utilities System in the form of rental.

I hope that this is clearly explained. If not I certainly would appreciate any other inquiry regarding the matter.

Yours very truly,

Warren Carver, Mayor.

SPRING REGATTA—Buccaneer Yacht Club on Mobile Bay hosted their Annual Spring Regatta on May 18 and 19 with ten yacht clubs participating. In the opening race of the GYA Scot class, Bay Waveland's skipper Woody Stieffel finished first with a three minute lead over the next boat, Rod and Dennis Stieffel were his crew.

Charlie Staehle skippered Bay Waveland's boat in the second race with Woody and Rod Stieffel crewing. In spite of a late start, Staehle sailed a fantastic race, passing boat after boat to finish a close second behind George Haynie of Pensacola Yacht Club.

Chuck Breath sailed the final race Sunday in extremely fluky winds, finishing third, with Mary Kergoslen and Woody Stieffel crewing.

It was a very close series among the top three clubs. Bay Waveland finished second overall with 27 1/2 points. Pensacola Yacht Club won with 27 1/2. Host Buccaneer Yacht Club was third with 26 points.

BAIL THE BILGE—A really delightful evening of "bailing the bilge" was enjoyed by many members and guests.

Diabetic Youth Camp to open June 8

The Diabetic Youth Camp of Mississippi for youths ages 7-17 will be held during the two weeks of June 8-22 at Paul B. Johnson State Park, announced Dr. W. J. Huddleston.

With the youths to be housed in facilities of the state park, activities will stress teaching the young diabetics how to take care of themselves.

The combined efforts of physicians, nurses, counselors, nutritionists, medical technologists, recreation specialists and allied professionals will provide 24-hour care and instruction.

Constant attention will be given to the young diabetics by the medical staff. Each camper will receive urine tests at least twice a day and a sugar blood test once a day.

Additional tests will be given to individuals determined to need more frequent tests.

"The young campers will benefit by associating with other youngsters who also have diabetes," said Dr. Huddleston. "In this situation, they discover that others have the same, or similar, problems, and they normally adjust, thereby recognizing that they, too, can help handle the daily problems caused by diabetes."

The camp will be open to all Mississippi youths, ages 7-17, and about 40 applicants will be accepted.

"Fees are $100 per youth for one week or $150 for the two weeks; but if youths are unable to pay, they will not be turned away," said Dr. Huddleston.

Various individuals, service and civic organizations have sponsored children's attendance in the past, and contributions and sponsors are again needed.

Applicants should write no later than May 15 to Diabetic Youth Camp of Mississippi, P.O. Box 1691, Hattiesburg, Miss. 39401.

Contributors should make checks payable to Forrest County General Hospital - Diabetic Youth Camp and mail to the same address.

The Forrest General Hospital, the Hattiesburg Kiwanis Club and the University of Southern Mississippi are sponsoring the camp. The USM School of Nursing, the Department of Medical Technology and the Recreation Department will provide nurses, medical technologists and recreation specialists.

In addition to the professional instruction about diabetes, campers will enjoy a full range of recreational activities, including ping pong, arts and crafts, softball, volleyball, horseshoes, swimming, water skiing, boating, and others.

Boy Scout Explorers and students from the USM Recreation Department will supervise all recreational activities. Medical technology counselors and student nurses will also provide constant supervision.

Full count

by Bob Innes
Special to the Echo

This should be the season for Long Beach baseballers. For years now, Long Beach has been planning and organizing and not quite up to par in its baseball leagues. But an overwhelming amount of boys have shown interest and it looks like the leagues are running smoothly.

Perhaps, because there are more and more men doing their part by coaching and showing a genuine interest in trying to make this season the most successful.

More specifically, the men who are the coaches are the ones who make the leagues tick. Because they have the task of working the diamonds and seeing that they are in excellent playing shape. Plus working with the boys at practice in hopes of providing a heads-up ball team for those enthusiastic spectators.

The concession stand is also a part of the duties expected of them. Each head coach is responsible for the concession stands for a certain amount of time throughout the season.

Of course there are officers who set up game schedule, get announcers, schedule umpires and see that items such as the scoreboard and lights are in proper working order.

These are just a few of the things that have to be done to insure that the league is running smoothly.

Who is responsible? The men of this community. They're the ones who devote endless hours of their time. They work with the boys of all ages teaching them baseball and more importantly good sportsmanship.

Work parties are composed of these men to keep the field in top condition. These men are the announcers in the booths. They find parents to lend their help by working the concession stand.

The umpires are just superb. They give their nights and are right on top of every play. They remain cool and calm no matter how many parents and spectators beleaguer them to change a call.

I have seen all the different leagues in action, but I speak with allegiance to the minor league, mainly because the baseball taught there is for the youngsters. And at a time in their lives when they first learn the fundamentals of the sport. It takes a great deal of patience to work with these youngsters, especially when the ump calls one of them out. There's just learning.

To all the men who work so hard and devote their time and effort to untireless dedication, I salute you for a job well done and I sincerely hope the fine work as well as support continues to grow as we need this activity for the youngsters desperately.

Season Opener

The raising of Old Glory culminated Saturday's Little League parade in Bay St. Louis marking the start of another season of play at McDonald Field. Teams wasted no time in getting underway as three games were slugged out on the diamond.

American Legion overcame the Jaycees 14-6 while Gulf National Bank popped Merchants Bank 11-2. In the final game Riemann's lost a squeaker to Hancock Bank 13-12.

Coast fails to survive rugged Jr. College play

By Bob Innes
Special to the Echo

COLUMBIA, Tenn. — Louisburg and Mitchell State baseballers of North Carolina dealt the fatal blows to Mississippi Gulf Coast Junior College's hopes for an Eastern Regional championship during the National Junior College Athletic Association baseball tournament last Thursday and Friday.

Gulf Coast met defeat first from Mitchell State 12-4 and the second diamond meeting saw Louisburg slip past 4-3 in nine innings. The two losses omitted the Bulldogs from further play in the double elimination tourney at Columbia, Tenn.

State of Stateville, North Carolina jumped to a 6-0 lead in the opening frame. Gulf Coast came back with one run. From then on State never really received any threat from the Dogs as they used a balanced attack of single runs in the second through the eighth innings to take the victory.

The Bulldogs of Ken Farris mounted an offensive attack in the bottom of the fourth as Kevin Walker doubled and Ricky Daniels and Lucius Kennedy each walked to load the sacks.

A run was walked in as Kim Letort was issued a base on balls by State hurler Billy Baker.

On a Kirk Thompson fielder's choice Daniel and Kennedy crossed the plate as Letort was forced out at second.

The first game was shortened from nine to eight innings because of the large margin Mitchell State held. NJCAA rules state that if a team is winning by eight or more runs by the eighth inning the game will be called at that point. Gulf Coast did not bat in the bottom of the eighth.

Roger Parker absorbed his first loss of the season. The winning pitcher was Billy Baker, the nation's top-ranked junior college hurler, whose record was raised to 9-1. Baker worked 4½ innings and gave up four runs on five hits, walked five and struck out six.

Allan Lindberg gave up one hit, no runs and fanned five in relief.

The Bulldogs, State champions for a ninth consecutive time lost a close one to Louisburg.

Going into the ninth frame the 'Dogs were ahead 3-2. After the lead-off man for Louisburg grounded out, a single and an error allowed Louisburg runners to reach base. Another out advanced runners to second and third and an intentional walk loaded the bags with two out.

Center fielder Ray Stevens ran the count to 2-2 before smacking a single to right center to drive in two runs and Louisburg baseballers had the victory.

The North Carolina squad jumped out to a 1-0 margin after one frame but Gulf Coast tied it in the sixth. Louisburg took another one run advantage in the bottom of the seventh.

A big two run homer by Gulf Coast shortstop Jim Wargo in the eighth put the 'Dogs ahead but the ninth inning drive proved too much.

Dave Pettis went the entire distance on the mound and was tagged with the loss.

Louisburg used three pitchers including Dave Menkie, Walt Epsobay and Joe Smith. Smith came on in the eighth to take the win.

Bulldog batters were led by Kevin Green and Bill Bradley. Both were two for four. Bradley tripped and Kevin Walker and Joey Marshall both doubled.

Jimmy Warrick and Dave Petty both were two for four and Bill Bryant led Louisburg going two for three.

keeping you in touch

By F. M. Kyle, Jr.
Gulf Coast District Manager

Today, most of us are having to watch our budgets carefully, cutting expenses whenever we can. I thought you might welcome some suggestions on how to save money while still enjoying the many services your phone offers you:

—Are you going to be away from home for an extended period of time? A business office Service Representative can tell you, based on how long you plan to be away, whether you could save money by temporarily suspending your telephone service.

—Moving to a new residence? Ask a Service Representative whether you are eligible for a credit on your bill if you take your present phones with you to your new location.

—Dialing your station-to-station Long Distance calls is the least expensive way to call. And rates are lowest after 5 weekdays, all day Saturday and up to 5 on Sundays. (If you don't know the number for a call you want to make to a distant city, you can get it at no charge to you by dialing "11", the area code if different from your own, plus 555-1212, for Directory Assistance. Save time, too, on future calls by writing new numbers in your telephone directory or personal number book.)

—Avoid paying extra installation charges when you order new phone service. Have all the work done at one time. Changing your mind later will mean extra visits and extra charges. So consider carefully all the different colors and styles, how many phones you want and exactly where you want them put.

These are just a few ways you can save on your phone bill. From time to time, we'll include others in this column.

Here's a health tip, courtesy of the Mississippi Heart Association, who estimates about 300,000 Mississippians have high blood pressure. Fortunately, high blood pressure is easily detected and usually controllable. But undiagnosed and untreated, it can lead to major cardiac killers — heart attack and stroke. So do yourself a favor and have your blood pressure checked...Now!

Tigers see hopes for state championship fade

That little word "if" often returns to haunt us and Bay High certainly wasn't an exception last week. But for a horse a kingdom was lost, but for two false starts last Wednesday in the Mississippi State Class A track and field meet and a championship was lost.

Bay High saw its chances for their first Class A championship go slowly down the drain Wednesday after being eliminated in two crucial events that the Tigers were favored to finish strongly in.

Bay High was eliminated from the 100 yard dash and the 180 yard high hurdle and events after two unfortunate false starts in both events. The false starts carry an automatic disqualification from the event.

The loss of points proved disastrous to Tiger hopes to capture a first in Class A competition as Bay High fell six points behind Leland High School for the title.

Speedster Irvin Hawkins, who was favored to win the 100 yard event, could have given the Tigers that six points with a first place finish. The Tigers needed only a second and a fourth in both events, coach J. E. Loiacano said Monday to win the Class A title.

Hawkins did average himself a disappointing third place finish in the 220 yard dash in the South Mississippi Meet May 4 behind Larry Harrell of Liberty Central and Jeff Harry of Poplarville.

In the state meet Wednesday Hawkins set a blazing 22.0 seconds to win the event over the arch rivals.

Bay High had no other runners in contention in track events but finished strong in field events taking firsts in both the shot put and the discus and a third place finish in the pole vault.

Bay High showed the state boys how to throw the discus with Sam Piazza taking the event with a toss of 151 feet six inches, and Ed Porter capturing third place.

Bay High scored another sweep in the shot put as Gilbert Whavers and Dale Loiacano finished first and third in that event.

Arnold Fairconnetue rounded out the Tiger point spread with a second place finish in the pole vault.

This is the way they finished after the points were totaled. Leland captured first place with 34 points, Bay High took second with 28 and Liberty Central, who narrowly nudged Bay High out of first place in the South Mississippi Meet, finished third Wednesday with 22 points.

WINNING FORM—Bay High School discus thrower Sam Piazza shows the form that brought him a first place in the Mississippi State Class A track and field competition in Jackson Wednesday May 15. Piazza's winning distance was 151 feet six inches. Ed Porter of Bay High placed third in the event to give the school a strong showing.

Superior remains Superior

By Edward Favre

Pest Control and the Sand Pebbles came on strong this week in men's softball action as each team swept two games apiece.

The Pebbles defeated The Other Place 13-6 Thursday night and downed Crosby's Furniture 31-15 Monday.

Pest Control found the resistance a little stiffer but put away the Sluggers 18-13 Friday night before breezing by Pearlington 22-8 Monday.

Superior Supply continued its hold on first place defeating Trapani's 20-10 last Wednesday night to remain the sole undefeated team in the league. The Krack Bullets were rained out in their game with Superior Tuesday night.

Play will continue every Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday through May 31. Afterwards games will be played Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights.

In Monday night's opener Robert Fulton was the losing pitcher for Pearlington, while Jimmy Lafontaine was credited with the win for Pest Control. In the second game Billy Taylor was the winning pitcher for the Sand Pebbles, while Ray Ladner was charged with the loss for Crosby's.

Lafontaine was also the winning pitcher for Pest Control Friday night in their defeat of the Sluggers 18-13. In the second game Friday Harry Farve pitched the Krack Bullets past Ladner's 17-3.

Thursday night The Sand Pebbles defeated The Other Place in the first game 13-6, the game being played under protest. The second game Thursday was won by Crosby's 26-14 over Pearlington.

Winning pitcher for the Pebbles was Billy Taylor.

Trapani's wins flip

By Edward Favre

A toss of the coin decided the championship of the annual Sluggers Softball Tournament at Commagere Park this past weekend.

A total of 12 teams battling for the championship saw Trapani's Knock Knock boys overcome an early loss to win three straight games in the loser's bracket and another chance for the trophy.

Trapani's defeated the Krack Bullets 17-14 in the first half of a double header for the title, but due to time the second and deciding game had to be called and after a lengthy discussion it was decided that a coin flip would decide the winner of the tournament.

The managers of the two teams met at home plate with Sgt. Washington of the sponsoring team and the coin was flipped. When it was over Trapani's won the toss and was presented the first place trophy. The Krack Bullets received second place and Pest Control, who was defeated by Trapani's earlier, took home the third place trophy.

KANTCHA KETCHUM

By L.S. (Doc) Elliott.

Another weekend of good weather for fishing as far as the weather went but the winds and tides were wrong. In my way of thinking a wind with any kind of East in it is not the best for fishing. Went fresh water fishing Monday didn't even put the boat over board. Had a storm tide and plenty wind.

Practically no fish were caught off the seawall either North or South.

As to fresh water fishing went Sunday up Block and Mills Bayou. We returned with one bass and four perch, not enough for a mess. The water in these two bayous was perfect but no fish were striking. The tide didn't fall until about 6 p.m. Too late to catch fish.

Some hard crabs are still being caught. Mostly gumbo crabs. No large ones.

John Legendre and Bill Karl caught about four dozen hard crabs the first part of last week. Both enjoy their crabbing.

Bob and Al Seely with their wives spent the weekend at the Bay. Bob and Al are brothers of Clayton Seely. Bob has a camp at Shoreline Park. They will be over shortly to spend some time at the camp to do some fishing and crabbing. Bob has a boat and uses it with his friends to great advantage.

Sorry to report the death of Uncle Joe Roddy last week. Mr. Roddy was 94 years old. A congenial fellow and real sportsman, who lived at Kiln, Miss. He was for years with the Hines Lumber Co. when that firm flourished at the Kiln. Could tell some interesting stories about way back when. Attended a few of his late birthday parties myself.

Walter Gonzales and family from New Orleans spent the weekend at the Bay fishing with the kids and relaxing. They caught a few fish and enjoyed it. Henry Gonzales, his brother, couldn't make the trip. He is preparing for their 25th wedding anniversary. Congratulations Henry. The fish will still be here later.

Had a card from Bob Dahlstrom. They made it back to Texas OK and are anxiously awaiting another trip to the coast. Bob has a lot of friends in this neck of the woods. Hurry back, folks.

"A recent check with all

SPORTSMAN OF THE WEEK - Lawrence Freeman is known for his fishing technique. Besides fishing, he enjoys crabbing for both hard and soft crabs and we understand he does a little hunting, too.

field biologists indicates a good supply of small brown shrimp are available. Angelle continued, "and they should reach usable size in approximately two weeks provided that favorable weather conditions prevail."

Angelle made this special appeal to small boat operators and sport fishermen to exercise self-restraint in trawling in order to prevent disturbance of the valuable nursery areas and the unnecessary destruction of small unusable shrimp.

Tiger Carver says he has just got to get back to fishing. Been off too long. All work and no play is bad, Tiger.

Looking for a boat ramp? There are plenty around. There are two at the Legion pier at Washington St., one at the end of Blue Meadow Road, one at Bayou La Croix, one at Jourdan River on the Kiln Road, one up Bayou Phillip and one at the end of the seawall down Cedar Point way and one at the end of Bayou Caddy. All the ramps are in good fishing areas.

It is about time for all schools to close. There will be plenty skiing coming into its own. When skiing remember to respect those who enjoy fishing. They have a right to the waters too. When passing boats keep as far away from them as possible. It is safer and may save a few lives. We know how fast your boat will go. Be a good sport.

Soft crabbing is way past due. Maybe if the tide will get
